20 With the agreement of the parties, the Court enters the following Protective Order:

21 Defendant is charged with Possession with Intent to Distribute More Than 50 Grams of 22 Methamphetamine, in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 841(a)(1) and (b)(1)(B). Upon receipt of a discovery 23 request, the United States will produce documents and other materials pertaining to the defendant and 24 the charged offense to defense counsel. The discovery to be provided includes documents or other 25 materials falling into the following category (collectively, "Protected Information"):

- 26 1. Personal Identifying Information of any individual (other than his or her name), including 27 without limitation any person's date of birth, social security number, residence or business 28 address, telephone numbers, email addresses, driver's license number, professional license

STIPULATION AND PROTECTIVE ORDER
20-MJ-70327 MAG

1 number, family members' names, or criminal histories ("Personal Identifying Information");
2 To ensure that Protected Information is not subject to unauthorized disclosure or misuse, 3 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that defense counsel of record, their investigators, assistants, and 4 employees (collectively, "the defense team") may review with the defendant all discovery material 5 produced by the government, but shall not provide a defendant with copies of, or permit defendant to 6 make copies of, or have unsupervised access to, any discovery material produced by the government that 7 contains Protected Information, unless the Personal Identifying Information, Financial Information, 8 and/or Medical Information has first been entirely redacted from the discovery materials. The 9 government and defense counsel are ordered to work together to ensure that these materials are 10 protected, but that defendant has as much access to the materials as can be provided consistent with this 11 Court's order. Discovery material that clearly pertains to a specific defendant and does not contain 12 Protected Information regarding any other person (e.g., defendant's own bank records, telephone 13 records, and business records) may be provided to that defendant unredacted.

14 Defense counsel may also provide unredacted copies of Protected Information to any experts
15 retained to assist with the preparation of the defense in the captioned case. The defendant, all members 16 of the defense team, and any experts who receive discovery under this Order shall be provided a copy of 17 this Order along with those materials and shall initial and date the order reflecting their agreement to be 18 bound by it.

19 The materials provided pursuant to this protective order may only be used for the specific 20 purpose of preparing or presenting a defense in this matter unless specifically authorized by the Court.

21 This Order shall also apply to any copies made of any materials covered by this Order.

22 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that neither a defendant nor any member of the defense team 23 shall provide any discovery material produced by the government—whether or not the material 24 constitutes or contains Protected Information within the meaning of this Order—to any third party (i.e., 25 any person who is not a member of the defense team) or make any public disclosure of the same, other 26 than in a court filing, without the government's express written permission or further order of this Court.
27 If a party files a pleading that references or contains or attaches Protected Information subject to this 28

Order, that filing must be under seal.¹

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, upon request by the United States, defense counsel shall return materials subject to this Protective Order (including any copies) to the United States within 14 days after whichever event occurs last in time: dismissal of all charges against the defendant; defendant's acquittal; defendant's sentencing; or the conclusion of any direct appeal. After the United States receives documents and materials subject to this Order, it shall maintain those documents and materials until the period for filing a motion under 28 U.S.C. § 2255 has expired. After the statutory period for filing a motion under 28 U.S.C. § 2255 has expired, the United States is free to destroy documents and materials subject to this Order. If defendant is represented by counsel and files a motion pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2255, the United States will provide counsel with the documents and materials subject to this Protective Order under the terms of this Order. Defendant's attorney in any motion under 28 U.S.C. § 2255 shall return the documents and materials subject to this Protective Order within 14 days after the district court's ruling on the motion or 14 days after the conclusion of any direct appeal of the district court's order denying the motion, whichever is later. This stipulation is without prejudice to either party applying to the Court to modify the terms of any protective order. This Court shall retain jurisdiction to modify this Order upon motion of either party even after the conclusion of district court proceedings in this case.

IT IS SO STIPULATED.
